Root Cause of Flagging

After thorough investigation, our IT team has identified that the domain flagging is caused by a Google Translate widget installed on our website for multilingual accessibility of our students across India. This widget loads a standard script from Google's servers:

translate.google.com/translate_a/element.js

An outdated Anti-Virus blacklist database has incorrectly categorized this Google script under the "translators" subcategory as suspicious. This is a false positive — the same Google Translate script is used by millions of legitimate websites worldwide.

| There is no malicious code, phishing content, or harmful material on our website.
